Book Of Memories Homemade Clothes, Oil Lamps, Hand-Picking Cotton
By JAMIE PETERSON For The Record

Mary Allene Turlington Honeycutt, born in March of 1913, has a fortune in memories of growing up in Coats. From the days of hand picking cotton in the fields all day and plucking feathers from geese to make beds and pillows to seeing the first talking movie, she has put her memories in black and white to pass down to generations to come. Her 53-page book, "Remembering the Past: Memories of Growing Up," was published by Work/Shop Press Inc. in Atlanta in March 2004.

The 91-year-old Mrs. Honeycutt worked for nine years, compiling memories for the book by hand and by tape recorder. Her oldest daughter, Carol Honeycutt Hollahan, transcribed her work. Mrs. Honeycutt is the youngest of 15 children, and the only one still alive. She said she wrote this book of memoirs for the younger generations and the ones to come.

"I did it for the children and the grandchildren," she said.

Mrs. Honeycutt said that it's important to her that her family knows about their ancestors and where they came from, and that when she passes away, no one will be left to tell them. The book starts off with memories of her early childhood growing up with so many brothers and sisters and continues through her married years.

"We had a very good childhood," she said. "We made our own toys and we played with each other."

The book recites memories of stories her grandparents told her, including one about hiding food and wagon wheels in a cave in the well from invading Yankee soldiers during the Civil War. Mrs. Honeycutt gave a first-hand account in the story of everyday chores such as using an iron that had to be heated on the stove, filling oil lamps because there was no electricity and lowering foods that could spoil into the well where it was cool in the summer time.

Her mother, the oldest girl of 17 children, made all the clothes for her husband and 15 children, loom the fabric at home from cotton and dyeing it different colors with different colored leaves. She recalled seeing "Danny Boy," the first talking movie, on a grade school trip to Raleigh.

The book follows her life through the Great Depression, during which she was married to James Honeycutt. Struggling at first, Mr. Honeycutt was lucky to find a job that paid $12.12 per week at the time. In 1950 they were able to build their own home, the home in which Mrs. Honeycutt still lives in Coats. It then cost $6,500 to build. Across the street is the nearly dilapidated house where she was born and grew up.

"I used to pick cotton right where this house sits," Mrs. Honeycutt said. "All of this land around here was ours, and it was all tended with mules and plows."

Although Mrs. Honeycutt vividly remembers her past, she is not living it. More active than some adults half her age, she takes water aerobics classes three times a week at Campbell University, volunteers by delivering meals at senior centers, and spends long hours gardening and tending to her yard every day.

In addition, traveling the world has been a hobby of hers for the past several years. She has been to countries such as France, England, Germany, Korea and Argentina, journeying with her two daughters. When she was younger, she said, she didn't have the time or the money to travel, so she's making up for it now. Although she travels, she always returns to Harnett County.

"This is home," she said. "I've never had any desire to live anywhere else."

With more than 50 copies of her book printed, she said she'll have to print more soon.

"Everyone who has read it has wanted a copy," she said. "I still have more people who want them."

Geared toward her family, she plans to distribute more copies at her next reunion, and has donated a copy for display to the Centennial Committee in Coats to keep her memories alive.

He married MELLIE LUCILLE COMER 27 Mar 1912, daughter of EMERY COMER. She was born 13 Sep 1891, and died 13 Mar 1957 in Greencastle Hospital, Putnam County, Indiana.

Notes for EZRA C. QUERY:

While living in Cloverdale, Indiana (sometime before 1984), son Arthur C. wrote these words about his father and mother:

"Ezra C. Query, born 24 May 1890, married Mellie Lucille Comer on 27 March 1912. She was the daughter of Emery Comer who was a farmer in Western Owen County. Mellie (Comer) Query became a member of the Methodist Church at Cataract, Indiana and was active in the Ladies Aid. She was, also, active in home gardening. When the Monon railroad built a branch line to the coal strip mines, Ezra applied early and after a time became a section foreman. He worked on the railroad almost all of his life. He, however, became a Baptist rather than a Methodist. Ezra liked to hunt squirrels. Ezra Query bought a small place located near to the Monon tracks about one half mile south of Cataract, Indiana. This became his home place. He died at the Greencastle Hospital on 18 March 1941 and his wife Mellie died at the same hospital on 13 March 1957. Both are buried at Buckskin (now Mt. Pleasant). Ezra and Mellie Query had two sons, Arthur Clyde, born 4 May 1918 and Russell Maurice, Born 23 March 1920."

Both of these children were childless.

WHEN I'M GONE

When I come to the end of my journey
And I travel my last weary mile
Just forget if you can, that I ever frowned
And only remember the smile,

Forget unkind words I have spoken;
Remember some good I have done,
Forget that I ever had heartache
And remember I've had lots of fun.

Forget that I've stumbled and blundered
And sometimes fell by the way.
Remember I have fought some hard battles
And won, ere the close of day.

But remember the place where I lay.
And come in the shade of evening
When the sun paints the sky in the west.
Stand for a few moments beside me
And remember only my best.

We will always remember,

Your children, Priscilla, Roy Thomas, Jr., Kay, Randy and Trent

Notes for HENRY LEE "FES" TURLINGTON:

Military duty leaves Turlington with a love of aviation

By: L.E. Brown, Jr., The Sampson Independent (8/23/2003) August 25, 2003

CLINTON - Henry L. Turlington, better known as "Fes" Turlington, seems to think his experiences during World War II don't deserve a story.

"I didn't shoot at anybody, and nobody shot at me," Turlington said during an interview at his home in Coharie Acres.

Turlington and others may forget that there were hundreds of thousands of men and women who were never in combat during World War II and that there were many who never went overseas. This writer, who has interviewed dozens of World War II veterans, can attest that, although not all who served during World War II were heroes - some never were in combat, some never went overseas - without exception everyone has had an interesting story to tell.

(The National World War II Memorial, now under construction in Washington, will honor veterans, whether they served in combat or not, and will even have a registry of non-uniformed people who served on the home front.)

Although it may be a cliché to say, "They served, they did their duty," the fact is that Turlington did just that, first enlisting in the Army Reserve in early 1943 but then shortly volunteering for the Army Air Corps, where he served until 1946.

And Turlington continues to be supportive of the military and its history, especially if it has anything to do with aviation.

One of the things of which he is most proud, he says, is his association with the National Air and Space Museum and its Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center at Washington Dulles International Airport. He has a plaque which reads, in part, "In grateful acknowledgement of your outstanding support to create the National Air and Space Museum Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center, Sgt. Henry L. Turlington, AAC, is hereby inducted as an Air and Space 'Friend' of the Udvar-Hazy Center."

The plaque further tells Turlington that his name will be inscribed on the National Aviation Space Exploration Wall of Honor "as a permanent testament to your commitment and passion for aviation and space exploration." The award was certified Jan. 10, 2002.

(The Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center will open to the public Dec. 15. Ultimately, nearly 100 percent of the museum's collection will be on view, including the more than 200 aircraft and 135 space artifacts, current displays in the museum on the National Mall and objects on loan.)

Turlington, during the interview at his home, chuckled before saying that his first interest in aviation may have been when he, at age 20, was slogging on the ground at Fort McClellan, Ala., as an infantryman trainee and observed planes passing overhead, its occupants mud-free.

"I knew that was the place to be," Turlington said. "Besides, I didn't know how to dig."

Two decades before his experience with Alabama dirt, Turlington was born in Clinton, in 1922, to F.L. and Callie Turlington. His mother was also a Turlington, from Benson. He graduated from Clinton High School in 1939, and attended Duke University before enlisting in the Army Reserve in January of 1943. Three months later, he was on active duty, beginning April 3, at Fort Bragg and from there was sent to Fort McClellan.

"I found I was in a machinegun outfit," said Turlington, "and I found out that I wouldn't live if I stayed in such an outfit." Then, he began to think about the planes overhead, heard about the Army Air Corps, quickly enlisted, in July, and was accepted.

"I was first sent to the University of Alabama, in Tuscaloosa, for what they called college training detachment," Turlington remembers. He was there for about three months, undergoing what he termed 10-hour-day flight training.

"But I began to find that I didn't really want to fly," Turlington said.

Nevertheless, Turlington found himself in San Antonio, Texas, there for the military to learn if he could make a pilot. He couldn't, both the military and Turlington concluded, so he was sent to Kessler Field in Mississippi, to be trained as an engineer gunner for a B-24 bomber. This was in January 1944.

In July 1944 Turlington found himself at Tyndall Field, Florida, undergoing gunnery school. In January 1945 he was at Westover Field in Massachusetts for a few days of crew classification then it was on to Chatham Field, Savannah, Ga., to undergo combat B-24 training.

Overseas, World War II was still in full force - in Europe the Battle of the Bulge was raging while in the Pacific the battles for islands were reaching a crescendo.

So, in training camps all over the nation, men were being prepared to be shipped overseas, Turlington among them. But, for Turlington that didn't happen. In May, when the war in Europe ended, his training was shifted from B-24 to B-29, the latter having become a mainstay of bombing missions in the Pacific.

Before that, though, something occurred that Turlington has never forgotten, not even the most minute detail. The B-24 he was on crashed and its pilot was killed.

His name, the pilot, was Pete, Turlington said: Peter J. Curato, from Hartford, Conn., of Italian descent.

"Pete's wife was from Jonesboro, Arkansas," Turlington related. "and she was there while we were in Georgia. So, Pete, who was an instructor pilot, decided he would fly to Jonesboro and fly over his wife's home. I kept telling him we didn't have enough gas, I kept telling him to put more gas in each tank, but he wouldn't listen."

Anyway, says Turlington, the B-24 took off, with six aboard, Turlington occupying the position of engineer gunner, and flew to Arkansas.

"We buzzed around her house a few times, and then headed back toward Savannah," Turlington recalls. When the engines began sputtering for lack of fuel, he said, the plane had already passed a suitable landing site, but Curator turned the big bomber around, hoping to land it safely.

"It was a beautiful, moonlit night, about two a.m.," Turlington remembers, when Curato told the crew it was bailout time.

"We all had had some parachute training," said Turlington, although he, himself, had made no practice jumps, not even from a tower, since there were none at the base.

"They had told us what to do, like when to snap the chest pack - they said to snap up instead of down, but I snapped down instead of up - and so my parachute ring was on the left instead of the right.

"And I didn't count to ten, either."

Recalling that he was the second one out of the plane, Turlington remembers that the plane was so low, about 1,200 feet, that before landing he could see the plane burning on the ground, about five miles away.

As he neared the ground, Turlington said, he was sure he was going to hit a big pine tree, but instead landed in a plowed field, "with a great 'kaboom.'"

"Some guys in a pickup picked us up and then we went to the plane, which landed about a hundred yards from a house," said Turlington. About the biggest piece of the plane intact was about the size of a sofa, he said.

About 5 a.m., said Turlington, medics came with an ambulance.

Pete didn't make it. As the pilot, he would have been the last to bail out.

"The plane dropped like a rock," said Turlington. "Pete had no chance."

Only a few hours earlier, Curato had seen his wife for the last time, waving from the front porch of a house in Jonesboro, Ark.

Because of his jump and survival, Turlington became a member of the Caterpillar Club. He explains: "At that time, anybody in the service became a member of the Caterpillar Club if they survived an emergency parachute jump from an aircraft."

When Japan surrendered in September, 1945, Turlington was still at Chatham Field, but was soon transferred to the Overseas Replacement Depot in Greensboro, to work as a payroll clerk. He was there when he was discharged in February 1946, with the rank of sergeant.

After his discharge Turlington returned to Clinton to work with his father at Turlington Lumber Co. His father died in 1951 and Turlington and his brother, Thomas, ran the operation until 1960, when Turlington sold his share to Thomas.

Several business ventures have occupied Turlington's time since leaving the lumber business, including operating the Clinton Sports Center in downtown Clinton, until 1972; with partners buying and running a potato chip vending franchise based in Myrtle Beach; selling real estate along southeastern beaches; and, from 1981 until 1987 when he retired, serving as an economic developer for Sampson County.

Turlington remembers that it was during his tenure when developer offices first came to be located at the Clinton-Sampson Airport. "It was," he said, "an interesting and rewarding job."

Turlington has been active in politics since 1960, when he became enthusiastic about the campaign of John Kennedy. He remembers going to Greenville to see and hear Kennedy during a campaign swing through North Carolina.

Since then, he has served as Third Congressional District Young Democrats Club chairman, president of the Sampson County Young Democrats and chairman of the Sampson County Democratic Party. He has also hosted the visits of various state officials and political candidates.

Since 1952 Turlington has been married to the former Ann Tyson, of Roseboro. They are the parents of three sons. Lee lives in Oregon, Ed in Raleigh and Ken in Texas.

Turlington remembered as a 'gentle soul'

By: Kendra Gerlach, Sampson Independent May 18, 2000

He is described as a man who always stood up for what he believed in and, according to his friends, what he stood for was generally always right.

Thomas Eli Turlington, a current Clinton city councilman, former chairman of the Sampson County Board of Commissioners, veteran of the U.S. Air Force and long-standing church member, died Tuesday, May 16, 2000.

Albert Kaleel, a friend since childhood and a fellow city councilman, said the loss of Turlington will be felt both on a personal level and on an official level as well.

"He was a good councilman. I know Clinton's losing a good citizen. He was an asset to this community and we're going to miss him."

Turlington was only five months into his third four-year term on the City Council, having just been re-elected last November. According to city manager Tommy Combs, Turlington was a councilman who "looked after his district and always thought of other people."

"He was a gentle soul," Combs said, "and was the kind of person that you could disagree with and still remain friends." That same approachable personality could be described as charisma, Combs continued.

"He had a presence about him ... he was a leader and people paid attention to him when he talked.

"Sometimes you would think that he may be against a project, but all he was doing was gathering information." Combs explained that Turlington would ask questions to which he might already know the answer, but felt it was a question that needed to be raised; one that others needed to hear the answer to. "I really did like him. He was an outstanding councilman and he certainly had knowledge and concern for Clinton," Combs stated.

Clinton Mayor A.E. Kennedy agreed that Turlington was a councilman who stood up for what he believed in.

"Tommy was very fair in his thinking; he was very conservative too, but when it came down to it and something he felt like was good for the city, Tommy would go all out for it there, regardless of the cost," Kennedy said. "When he made up his mind he wanted something done, he didn't quit until it was there. He stuck with it and fought for it."

Whether it was in a business setting, in council chambers or on the golf links, Turlington was known for his outgoing personality, his friendliness to every person.

"He knew no strangers," said Dr. Bill Peak, one of Turlington's many golfing buddies. "He was the most affable, friendly person, especially to people he first met or didn't know. He always gave a good handshake to people, told them his name and wanted to know theirs.

"He was obviously an astute business man and was set in his ways in what he thought was right and wrong. And," Peak added, "he was usually right."

For Peak, the predominant memory of his long-time friend was his attitude, his outlook on life, and it was summed up in one key phrase: "Ain't it a pretty day."

"He'd say that if he had a misfortune," Peak stated. "If he missed a two-foot putt, 'Ain't it a pretty day,' he'd say or anything happened to him in his life, that was his attitude. He always loved each day."

Turlington suffered from an illness during his last years but didn't let that stop him from continuing his daily working tasks and still golfing with his friends. Turlington claimed the title of golf champion at Coharie Country Club for several years, but is probably better known for his keen business sense.

Carrying on the business begun by his father, Festus Turlington, in 1917, Turlington Lumber Co. remains a thriving Clinton business today.

Turlington raised his two sons in the family business as well and today the 83-year-old lumber company is run by Thomas Turlington Jr. and Bill Turlington.

According to Combs, that same business sense was reflected in the way Turlington carried out his duties as a councilman.

"A lot of times, he expected us to operate as a business here," said Combs. "He certainly brought that business sense to the council."

The late Turlington leaves behind his wife, Jean Calhoun; two daughters, Neale and Selma; his two sons; and six grandchildren.

He was 75 years old.

Tyson Whittington: June 5th, 1983 - August 14, 2001

Cary High grad dies in single-vehicle wreck

By LORENZO PEREZ, Staff Writer

WILSON -- An 18-year-old Cary High School graduate and star athlete was killed in a single-vehicle wreck Tuesday afternoon as he drove home from Greenville.

News of Tyson Joseph Whittington's death spread rapidly Wednesday, as former classmates, teammates, coaches and teachers reached out to each other and Whittington's family to share their grief.

A 2001 graduate of Cary High, Whittington was an All-Conference quarterback last fall, as well as the Tri-Eight 4A Co-Offensive Player of the Year. Whittington also played on Cary High's varsity basketball team.

Friends and family said Whittington had gone to Greenville to visit friends at East Carolina University. Tuesday afternoon, he was driving back alone when he apparently lost control of his Honda Passport.

At 12:31 p.m. Tuesday, Whittington was driving west on U.S. 264 north of Sims when his vehicle ran off the road, a dispatcher with the state Highway Patrol said. Whittington's Passport rolled several times and skidded to a stop in the median, the dispatcher said. Whittington was taken to a nearby hospital in Wilson, where he later died.

Whittington's former basketball coach at Cary High, Allan Gustafson Jr., said his phone started ringing about 10 p.m. Tuesday. Several of Whittington's former teammates, including some who had graduated a year ahead of him, came over to the coach's house to talk late into the night.

"Word spread so fast," Gustafson said. "It's really generated an outpouring of love from those who knew him. ... We had nine seniors last year, so it really was a close-knit team."

As many as 150 well-wishers, many of them former classmates, came by the Whittington family's home to offer their condolences Wednesday, his family said.

Whittington didn't just socialize with jocks, his friends said. He had friends from one end of the high school to the other.

"You could name every clique, and he belonged to it," said Andrew Donovan, a basketball teammate and friend who drove Whittington home from practice for three years. "Everybody liked Tyson. Everybody had an affiliation with him."

Donovan said Whittington was a generous friend who often treated his friends to pizza or a night at the movies.

Tall and lanky, Whittington used to crack up his friends by flexing his muscles. During the warm-ups before every basketball game, Whittington would hike up his shorts, yank his socks up high and wear a headband to lighten the mood.

"He could always make you laugh if you were having a bad day," said Marcus Upchurch, 18, a basketball teammate.

Whittington planned to attend Wake Technical Community College for at least a year and had dreams of eventually walking on to N.C. State's football team, friends and family said.

Ron W. Pendergraft, Cary High's football coach, said Whittington was a strong leader for his young varsity squad last year.

"I was really wanting to see him go to the next level," Pendergraft said. "He had the arm, he had the vision. ... He was just starting to see his potential."

Some of Whittington's former classmates from his graduating class returned to Cary High School on Wednesday to mourn. His younger sister, Ashley Whittington, is a sophomore there this year.

Tuesday afternoon, Whittington's family was at the hospital in Wilson when he died.

Eddie Whittington, Tyson's father, said Ashley recalled the label she carried as a Cary High freshman.

"She said, 'All last year I was known as Tyson's little sister. And that's the most wonderful thing I could be known as.' "

Coats Scouts Better The Town
Gregory Phillips

Three members of the 779th Boy Scouts of America Troop celebrated a special milestone in Coats Sunday. They're brothers, and all three made Eagle Scout. The Parrish brothers - Joshua Henry, 21, Jonas McLuin, 20, and Simon Bartholomew, 18 - went through their Eagle Scout Court of Honor together at Coats Baptist Church Saturday afternoon.

With the requirements having to be met by the scout's 18th birthday, Joshua and Simon could have been recognized earlier but agreed to wait for their younger brother to achieve the honor so they could celebrate as a family. Their Scoutmaster Kevin Pope said he doesn't think the Parrish boys' accomplishment has been matched very often.

"I have had several people say that they had remembered seeing a triple like that," he said. "I had two brothers and two of us are Eagle Scouts and the other one didn't get there, so I think that's kind of a rare thing."

Troop 779 has stayed strong in Coats, with an enrollment of about 25 boys ever since Mr. Pope was a scout in the same troop as a boy, back when his father Gail Pope was Scoutmaster.

"I remember several of the trips that we took, and really more than anything else just learning to be a leader," he said.

Community Project

In addition to the numerous merit badges required, Eagle Scouts must also complete a community project to make the grade and Coats has done well out of its local troops' efforts. Joshua Parrish resurfaced and repainted the dilapidated tennis courts at the Coats Park, which he said "had been neglected for years and years." Jonas took the bell and cornerstones from the old Coats School and installed them outside the new school.

"My dad had always wanted one of us to do that," he said.

Simon restored a century-old cotton gin for display the new Coats Cotton Museum, opened at the town's centennial celebration three months ago.

"I learned a lot of the history while I was doing it," he said.

Other Eagle Scout projects have also benefited the town, from the steps installed at the Coasts Senior Center by Mr. Pope's son Matthew to the a storm drain installed at the park to create a picnic area by Ryan Pope (no relation). Another Scout, Chris Grimes, resurfaced and painted the parking lot at the park, Mr. Pope said, and the town appreciates the effort.

"The Coats chamber and the commissioners express that quite often to us," Mr. Pope said. "It's been a good area to work with, I have a lot of good parents that I work with now."

Mr. Parrish said the troop has always had good leadership. Mr. Pope said the community support has driven the troop and that the parents deserve most of the credit.

"The parents take care of the books and the registrations and records," he said. "All I have to do is take the boys to the woods."

Those camping trips seem to be a key to the troop's popularity. Mr. Pope said he tries to take them camping every month and all three Parrish boys cited those trips as a favorite memory of their time in the troop.

"That's the key," Mr. Pope said.

Between them, the Parrish boys amassed 130 merit badges. Jonas leads the pack, with 52.

"I just think I went to more camps than they did," he said. There's enough competitive spirit between them that once Joshua had made Eagle Scout, his brothers' were determined to follow.

"The other two knew they had to do it too," Mr. Parrish said.

Mr. Parrish never made it as far in the Scouts as his boys have.

"I dropped out before I made First Class Scout," he said.

For Mr. Parrish and his wife Judy, Saturday's ceremony forced them to confront their boys' passage into adulthood, all at once.

"My job's done," Mr. Parrish said. "They've definitely achieved a lot."

From Jill Sturgis:

My grandfather (Dixie Cobb) moved his family to this area in the late 40's in search of better work/life. He went to work for Cannon Mills in the construction department maintaining and building homes in the Kannapolis area. His brother Jarvis moved here as well. Brother Harvey was here for some time, and was somewhat of a "wild and crazy" fellow. I remember my grandmother (Alma) telling me the story of when they first came here and "Papa" took her to see the house he had bought for them. She was "horrified", she would say it did not have windows, the floors had big cracks in them and the chickens were in the house. After a lot of work, they had a beautiful 2-story home on a hill. Unfortunately, this home burned in the mid 50's, along with all family photos, mementos etc. The family then moved across the road, where most still live today, including myself. Farming was still the biggest part of their life here as it was in the eastern part of the state, and I remember well being a farmer's helper or probably hindrance as I was growing up.

Just a little about 'em..

Jill

Compassion United Six at a Deadly Crossroads

By MOLLY HENNESSY-FISKE, BENJAMIN NIOLET AND MARGIE FISHMAN, Staff Writers

RALEIGH -- It began as a collision of SUVs at a darkened crossroads that drew six helpful souls Saturday night, until Larry Veeder's white van barreled out of the darkness.

On Sunday, investigators charged Veeder, 32, with drunken driving and involuntary manslaughter -- six counts.

Troopers called the crash at N.C. 54 and Nowell Road the Triangle's worst in years. Five people were killed at the intersection, their bodies strewn across the road. A sixth died on the way to the hospital.

"It was just a horrific scene," said Sgt. Everett Clendenin of the state Highway Patrol.

By Sunday, troopers had a clearer picture of what brought each of the dead and injured to the scene shortly after 8:45 p.m. the night before.

Troopers said that Baron A. Fulk, a 20-year-old N.C. State sophomore, ran a stop sign as he pulled his green Chevrolet Blazer onto N.C. 54 and was struck by a silver Blazer driven by Martha P. West, 40, of Marble in Cherokee County. Neither had any passengers.

Robert Alfaro Jr., 46, and wife Gene-Marie Louise Alfaro, 48, of Waxhaw, in town for N.C. State's parents weekend, stopped to help. So did two alumni on their way home from the football game at Carter-Finley Stadium: Dennis Wayne Bowes, 28, a financial planner from Cary, and Bryan Matthew Tutor, 29, a heating and air conditioning repairman from Coats.

Nolan Phillips Myers, 18, a Campbell University freshman from Minnesota, was also headed home from the game when he stopped.

Christopher Clemons, 41, heard the accident from his home on nearby Lincolville Road and pedaled over on his bicycle.

Veeder, who works at Professional Paint and Sheetrock in Raleigh, was driving east on N.C. 54 (also known as Chapel Hill Road) -- troopers are trying to figure out how fast -- when he struck the group, Clendenin said.

Tim Parry, 23, an N.C. State senior, watched the collision. He was behind the cars of a few victims, who had parked short of the stop sign on Nowell Road.

"I noticed out of the corner of my eye the white work van, and I thought 'Why doesn't he slow down? Doesn't he see this SUV in the middle of the road?' " Parry said. He listened for screeching tires but heard none, and then the bodies flew through the air.

As one of his passengers dialed 911, Parry and the two others jumped out to help the injured.

"All we heard was moaning and yelling and screaming," he said.

Careful to stay clear of the road, Parry said he quickly discovered a fellow student had just seen his parents killed.

Early suspicions -

Troopers suspected Veeder was drunk when they arrived. He had alcohol on his breath, his eyes were glassy and his voice slurred, according to Wake magistrate's records. He refused to take a breath-alcohol test, so while the dead were taken to the state medical examiner's office in Chapel Hill and the injured to WakeMed and Rex hospitals, Veeder went to Wake County jail.

Veeder was being held in lieu of $120,000 bail late Sunday, scheduled to appear in court by this afternoon. Court papers Sunday did not list an attorney representing him.

Veeder has previous convictions for aiding and abetting drunken driving in 1990 and failing to comply with license restrictions in 1994. He pleaded guilty to driving without a license in 1992.

Mourning, praying

None of the crash victims was autopsied Sunday. Staff at the medical examiner's office could tell from a visual examination that five of the victims died from blunt force trauma. They had yet to examine Clemons' body.

Clemons, who worked for a road-striping company, did not grab identification before he went to the crash scene, and he went unidentified until relatives were called to WakeMed on Sunday. They knew him by the tattoo on his left shoulder: "Agnes," a memorial to his mother.

Christopher Alfaro, the N.C. State freshman who was with his parents at the crash, wept in a police car at the scene before returning to his dorm, roommate Jason Schaefer of Matthews said. The computer sciences major set out Sunday morning with his twin brother, Robert Alfaro, also a student at the university, to meet a third younger brother at home near Charlotte, Schaefer said.

Also Sunday, Martha West was released from Rex Hospital, according to state Highway Patrol Sgt. Barry Hower. Efforts to reach her failed.

Fulk, the driver of the green Blazer, was conscious and in serious condition at WakeMed. Parents Joseph and Dianne Fulk of Asheville and brother Joe Fulk, 26, were with him. The family chose not to discuss the crash.

"They just wish prayers instead of press," said the Rev. Paul Christy of Sylva, who was with the family Sunday and recently succeeded Joseph Fulk as pastor of First United Methodist Church in Sylva, near Asheville.

Investigators had not filed charges against Fulk late Sunday, but Clendenin said troopers were investigating how fast he was driving and whether alcohol played a role in the initial crash.

A classmate who visited Fulk in the hospital Sunday said he was driving home from visiting a friend in Raleigh and on his way to meet more friends when the crash occurred. Senior Chiao

Cheng said she did not think Fulk had been drinking.

Friends offer support -

Veeder was a regular at Sadlack's Heroes, a Hillsborough Street bar and sandwich shop where he was known as "Blinker." Many said Sunday night that Veeder is a gentle, generous person with a stock of jokes and a repertoire of sleight-of-hand tricks. He painted children's faces at Sadlack's on Halloween. He is a former chimney sweep and a professional clown who juggled and played the ukulele, the blues harmonica and squeezebox.

Veeder is known for wearing hats, including porkpies and fedoras. The hats, the instruments, the tricks and the corny jokes define his personality, said Peter Eichenberger, a columnist for the Independent Weekly.

"The ukulele just kind of suits this goofy, gentle nature he has," Eichenberger said.

His friends at Sadlack's wrote a note on a message board Sunday: "Hey, turn your sadness and concern into support for one of 'ours' who surely needs it NOW! Write a letter of support, love and of friendship. It will help him greatly and it will help you in your dealings with grief and sorrow."

"Out of all the people I know, Blinker is the most tragic person for this to happen to because he really wouldn't hurt a fly. He's a gentle-natured, gentle person," said Ryan Carlson, 34.

Patrons said Sunday that Veeder had not been in the bar before the accident.

By Sunday, much of the physical wreckage at the crash site had been removed. There were small reminders: a tangle of wires wrapped in a dandelion, shards of taillights, a shattered side-view mirror and a silver Chevrolet emblem. Passing cars sped over chalk outlines that straddled the middle of the road.

Tim Parry, the student who saw the crash, has had trouble sleeping. He wondered Sunday what Veeder was thinking as he sat in jail.

"Does he have any idea of what he's done?" Parry said. "The vision of the bodies -- that's pretty hard to get rid of."

Bryan Matthew Tutor
By CHRIS SERRES, Staff Writer

Sue Parrish fought back tears Sunday as she leafed through an album containing photos of her son-in-law, Bryan Matthew Tutor. In one photo, Tutor's 5-month-old son, Carson Brantley, is wearing the same Christmas outfit -- a red jumper with an elf's hat -- that Bryan wore when he was an infant.

"It just breaks my heart that Bryan didn't live to see his son enjoy that first Christmas," said Parrish, who lives in Angier.

Life was snatched from Tutor as everything appeared to be going his way. The 29-year-old had just found a new career repairing heating and air-conditioning systems. He was working part time while completing courses at Wake Technical Community College.

With his shaved head, goatee and 200-pound frame, Tutor might have looked intimidating. When friends gathered at his house to watch college football games, Tutor would usually cheer the loudest.

"You didn't want to be near that guy when N.C. State was losing," said Trae Shelton, 26, of Dunn.

Yet underneath that bravado was a "warm, kindhearted person" who cared deeply for his family.

Just a month before his death, Bryan and Mandy Tutor celebrated the anniversary of their first date. They met at the State Fair seven years ago.

Despite work and school, Tutor always tried to make it home to give his son a bath. When his wife went out, Tutor could be found sleeping next to his son on their bed.

He was also a great cook. When family and friends gathered at the Tutor home, Bryan did the cooking. His favorite dish was a powerful chili conjured up from onions, hamburger and hot peppers.
